Büros für Konstruktivismus

Everything is Architecture, Monument, Energy

Büros für Konstruktivismus is the office of Sandra Bartoli and Silvan Linden. Founded in 2006, their practice of architecture and research exercises an attention for high resolution and raw context, both found and constructed. Their range of projects covers different scales, from furniture and buildings to landscape. An example of their theoretical work is the ongoing publishing series "Architektur in Gebrauch" (Architecture in use), started by the office in 2014 in which the notion of "use" is explored as an aesthetic category that informs the development and transformation of architectural structures. Sandra Bartoli is Professor at the Faculty of Architecture of the Munich University of Applied Sciences. Silvan Linden is chair of Integrative Research of Typologies in Architecture and Urbanism at the Technische Universität Berlin.
